FaceFirst is a leading provider of face recognition to law enforcement and I am sending over some information about how FaceFirst is currently helping our law enforcement partners.

Our technology will scan your VMS at a rate of 25,000,000 pictures a second with very high accuracy, and send automatic alerts to the correct persons upon seeing a match.

- Our team made this 2-minute video that does a great job of showing how our system can help officers in the field. You can also go to our website, www. Facefirst.com/law enforcement, to see the video.
- I'm also sending over a whitepaper that gives a more in-depth look at mobile, surveillance and forensic use cases. It also breaks down exactly how much time and resources we can typically save departments.

We have dozens of law enforcement agencies using our system, and we are expecting that number to increase exponentially over the next year. If our solution looks compelling, we'd like to offer you a 45-minute WebEx demonstration that can truly show off FaceFirst's capabilities. Would you like to schedule a demo?

Regards,

Paul
